Due to the current tense geopolitical situation, which leaves serious gaps in the supply chains of our suppliers and partners, we can guarantee the offered prices only conditionally.

For many products there are already massive delivery bottlenecks or some items are unfortunately no longer available (you will have already made this experience at first hand with your daily purchases). For this reason, we would like to point out that our price calculations are based on current prices and we reserve the right to make any necessary price adjustments. Since we cannot be held responsible for the price increases, we will unfortunately have to pass them on to our end customers. (Status 01.08.23)
